A Hierarchy of Individual Skills for Youth Basketball

- Excellent age-appropriate, progression-based skills instruction
- Learn drills that are competitive, rewarding, and fun
- A great resource for parents and coaches

In this youth basketball DVD, Coach Tauer focuses on building individual skills that are the hallmarks of basketball fundamentals, including: ball-handling, shooting, passing, catching and rebounding. Unique features of this video include: 1) A teaching progression using a hierarchy of drills for each major skill area. This hierarchy of drills increases in complexity to help coaches tailor drills based on individual and team needs. 2) A blend of coaching and teaching points that incorporate Tauer’s expertise in sport psychology. 3) Live clips of youth players allow you to watch the common mistakes and areas of challenge for young players.

A Hierarchy of Advanced Skills for Youth Basketball

- An excellent teaching progression using a hierarchy of drills for advanced offensive skills
- Youth demonstrators allow you to watch the common mistakes and areas of challenge for young players
- Dr. Tauer’s experience as a successful college player, coach, youth camp director and psychology professor, make this one of the most insightful DVDs ever made

This presentation builds on John Tauer’s Individual Skills DVD. Coach Tauer’s drills include a focus on the quick decisions players must make when they catch the ball. It covers: proper footwork on jab steps, shots fakes, change-of-direction moves, the importance of changing, speeds, individual defense, how to create separation from defenders, the importance of dribbling and shooting with either hand, and how to be more efficient with every move.
